

I am writing to request that you leave Indiana's Do-Not-Call law intact by denying banks the right to make sales calls to Indiana citizens on the no-call list. If I want to be contacted by a bank, I will call them. We are inundated by junk mail from them now. I would never do any type of financial management by phone, anyway. I am strongly opposed to letting any group intrude upon my privacy and strongly support Attorney General Steve Carter in his quest to continue Indiana's strong telemarketing restrictions.
